We hope you will join us for one or all of the events, and look forward to seeing you at our statewide celebrations throughout the year.

Humanities

The humanities and the arts often travel parallel paths, meeting only occasionally at the crossroads of art history or architectural history. While the arts consider what being human looks like, the humanities are the study of what it means to be human. Together, the arts and humanities "embody much of the accumulated wisdom, intellect, and imagination of humankind," (Americans for the Arts website). The Delaware Humanities Forum is pleased to shine a spotlight on art in Delaware during National Arts and Humanities Month, through its anniversary celebration theme, Picturing Delaware: Inside and Outside the Frame.

About the Delaware Humanities Forum

The humanities-subjects which include literature, ethics, political science and history-help people make a connection between their own lives and other people, cultures, and ideas. Through grants and public program offerings, the Delaware Humanities Forum builds bridges to connect the daily life and work of people to the universe of human experience, thought, and imagination. The Forum brings the public together with cultural, educational, and civic institutions statewide, and focuses on issues of public interest and concern.

As a state division of the National Endowment for the Humanities, the Delaware Humanities Forum supports organizations by awarding grants and implementing project initiatives such as lectures, symposia, exhibitions, classroom programs, and media projects. Your non-profit organization, school, library, or government agency may qualify for funding from the Forum and can obtain subject matter experts for lectures and presentations.
